

Hi ,

The Community Tile is now live for your company! Employees are now able to like, comment, and share posts in your company community. The STRIVE team will be posting a message in the Community Tile in the next day or two that will explain to users how to use the feature.

We have created various resources that can be found on our Admin Resource Portal that show ideas for various push notification campaigns and how to send them, as well as a communications playbook. It can be accessed here.

For the Community Tile to be most successful, it is important to set-up recurring campaigns that keep your community active and engaged. If you would like to discuss what that looks like for your company, please reach out to either your Client Success Manager or [\[email protected\]](#) to schedule a meeting.

We are excited to get this feature live for your team and help you build a connected community at your company. Please reach out if you have any questions.
